OPEN INTERNATIONAL PRESS CLUB BUILDING; POLISH TECHNICAL BOOKSTORES LISTED

NEW BUILDING GIVEN TO CLUB IN WARSAW -- Warsaw, Stolica, Vol VI, No 15, 15 Aug 51

The new International Press Club building in Warsaw was officially opened on 22 July 1951. Built of stone, it is located at the corner of Ulica Nowy Swiat and Aleje Jerozolimskie. The building costs were covered by the SFOS (Spoleczny Fundusz Odbudowy Stolicy, Public Fund for the Reconstruction of the Capital). Formerly, the ZZPKiS (Zwiazek Zawodowy Pracownikow Kultury i Sztuki, Artists' and Cultural Workers' Union) used the building. The ground floor has a coffee shop, a reading room, and a bookstore for the sale of books and newspapers. On the second story is the main reading room. On the third story, in the very near future, the press archives will be opened, and it will be possible to take out old issues of periodicals located at the club. The reading room catalogue, at present, contains 215 titles of various foreign publications, 220 Soviet publications, and all publications issued in Poland.

Jerzy Zukowski is in charge of the club, while Ryszard Proczkowski, a member of the ZMP (Zwiazek Mlodziezy Polskiej, Union of Polish Youth), handles the administrative details.

In the near future, the club will receive a machine for projecting films and slides.

The interior was designed by Z. Stepinski, architectural engineer.

ASSIGN BOOKSTORES TO SPECIALIZE IN TECHNICAL PUBLICATIONS -- Warsaw, Przeglad Techniczny, Vol LXXII, No 5, May 51

With the approval of the Dom Ksiazki Publishing House, the following bookstores will specialize in technical books and publications. This will be of great help to readers, libraries, and industrial plants in the procurement of technical literature.
